35TH ANNUAL

2019 COLORADO FARM FRESH DIRECTORY

Your guide to farmers' markets, roadside stands, u-picks, restaurants and agritourism activities

Welcome!

The Colorado Department of Agriculture is pleased to present the 35th anniversary edition of the Colorado Farm Fresh Directory, your complete guide to farmers' markets and roadside stands in the state. It is our pleasure to help you locate fresh, locally-grown fruits and vegetables, along with other farm and ranch products.

This year's directory lists more than 200 farms, roadside stands, Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) programs, u-picks, and restaurants, and features more than 100 farmers' markets across Colorado. Inside you will find information about county fairs, agricultural festivals, and extension offices as well as a crop calendar. The directory also features agritourism information on attractions such as corn mazes, wineries, and farm/ranch vacations. Our goal is to encourage residents and visitors to experience Colorado agriculture. We hope you find this directory helpful and use it throughout the year.

There is a mobile app available so you can have Farm Fresh at your fingertips year-round. Download the free app at www.coloradoagriculture.com.

What's New? There are 50 new listings this year, so be sure to find them by looking for the "New" icon.

In addition to the numerous farms, ranches and farmers' markets listed in this directory, the Colorado Department of Agriculture would like to acknowledge the following organizations for their generous support of Farm Fresh:

4Rivers Equipment, Longmont Dairy Farm and Royal Crest Dairy (cover sponsors), Anderson Farms, Castle Rock Farmers' Market, Centennial Farms/Ranches Program, Colorado Farmers' Market Association, Colorado Fresh Markets, Colorado Fruit & Vegetable Growers Association, Colorado Proud, Colorado State Fair, Colorado Wine Industry Development Board, Delta County Tourism, and Metro Denver Farmers' Market.

Colorado State University Extension for contribution of information and assistance in publicizing and distributing this directory.

Colorado's many libraries, welcome centers, chambers of commerce and private businesses including Royal Crest Dairy and Longmont Dairy Farm who helped get this directory into your hands.

Nearly half of the state's 66 million acres are dedicated to farms and ranches. It is no wonder that Colorado agriculture continues to be a key economic driver, contributing more than $40 billion to the state's economy each year and providing more than 173,000 jobs. Your interest in the producers listed in this year's Farm Fresh strengthens the Department's priorities of supporting the next generation of farmers and ranchers; accelerating investment in high-value agriculture and diverse market opportunities; and promoting soil, water, and climate stewardship. Thank you for supporting Colorado agriculture.

Using this Directory

Farm Fresh listings are organized by five major regions of the state: Denver Metro, Northeast, Southeast, Southwest and Northwest. Within each region, farms and markets are listed alphabetically by county.

Farmers' markets are identified with a special icon . There is also a separate listing of farmers' markets at the center of the book (48-49).

Farms currently certified organic are marked with this icon  and new listings are marked with  icon. Wineries and tasting rooms are marked with  icon, and farms and ranches with a  icon offer agricultural tours.

Restaurants are identified with  icon. Suppliers of two highly-requested seasonal items, pumpkins  and Christmas trees , are also marked with special icons.

Every effort has been made to locate farms, ranches and farmers' markets that sell direct to the public. If you know of an outlet that we have missed, please contact:

Our beef is raised nature's way: the animals spend their entire lives grazing mountain or prairie pastures (plus some hay in winter), without supplemental hormones, antibiotics or steroids. They never see a feedlot, so the beef is low in fat. Order a quarter, half or whole carcass. You instruct the butcher how you want your beef cut, what you want ground, size of roasts, package size, etc. Excellent jerky and a variety of sausages are available upon request.

CSA farm. Fresh organic vegetables, cooperative farm-centered community, and sustainability of local agriculture are the basic principles behind Stonebridge Farm, a 10-acre community-supported agricultural (CSA) farm located two miles east of Lyons, Colorado on Hwy. 66. Established in 1992 as the first CSA in Boulder County, Stonebridge offers seasonal memberships of organic produce, herbs, and flowers for pick up every Saturday from the second week of May to the end of October. Stonebridge is a share-the-harvest farm, meaning the weekly share of produce is determined by dividing what the garden yields equally among members rather than on the market value of the produce. The subscription rate for a 2019 season share is $540. Stonebridge is a licensed microwinery growing and vinting Front Range, cold-hardy grapes. See our website for classes and vineyard tours. More information and videos about the farm can be found at www.stonebridgefarmcsa.com. If local produce, grown by people you know, using methods you can see, on land shared by a community of friends appeals to you, contact John Martin at jmartin@greenspeedisp.net or (303) 823-0975 for more information or to subscribe for the season.

Customer Service Hours:

Royal Crest Dairy, a family-owned business serving Colorado since 1927, provides families with the freshest milk produced on local dairy farms. These farms are all grade "A" producers, and must submit to a rigid testing program to insure purity, quality, and flavor. Royal Crest contracts with producers not to treat their cows with the bovine growth hormone rbGH. All milk is tested for antibiotics and if detected, the milk is rejected and not processed at our plant. The unbreakable "high density" plastic container is more durable than glass, maintains fresh flavor, and keeps milk cold longer. The Royal Crest milk bottle with the no-drip lip is 8 times lighter than glass and available in both gallons and half gallons. This bottle can be reused an average of 100 times before being recycled. Visit www.royalcrestdairy.com to check us out! (See our ad on page 8.)

Under the M Farm is a backyard, micro-farm located in Golden. We strive to provide fresh, healthy food to family, friends and neighbors. By establishing our neighborhood farm stand, we aim to show that local, small-scale farms can provide high quality, affordable food that is easily accessible, fun to buy and fosters community engagement. The produce sold here is grown on-site with additional produce and products from a collective of local micro-farms and producers. You can't get more local than that! We are not "certified organic", as that is a very expensive process. But we all grow with organic practices as our guidelines. We buy our seeds from companies like: Baker Creek Heirloom Seeds, Botanical Interests, Johnny's Seeds and Lake Valley Seeds, to name a few. Non-GMO and heirloom seeds are our top priority. The chickens are fed a vegetarian diet, but they are free-range, so we cannot guarantee they are not eating insects, should they cross paths!

Marketing Your Livestock as Processed Meat

In Colorado, there are two types of meat processing facilities. It is important to choose the right type of facility for the manner you wish to market your animal.

United States Department of Agriculture Official Establishment: This type of establishment operates under continuous inspection by the USDA. Meat products produced under inspection can be sold to individuals, restaurants, retail stores, and can be marketed over the internet. The meat products produced in this manner will bear the USDA mark of inspection and will be properly labeled. Keep in mind that some of these plants may also custom kill animals (see the explanation below) outside of USDA inspection, so make sure that the plant operator knows that you wish to sell the processed meat and make sure that your animal is slaughtered and processed under inspection. For more information regarding the USDA's inspection activities, contact the Food Safety Inspection Service at (303) 236-9800.

Custom Processing Facilities: Custom Exempt facilities process animals that will be consumed by the animal owner, family and non-paying guests. Meat processed by Custom Exempt facilities cannot be sold and must be labeled NOT FOR SALE. You may also sell your live animal(s) and then arrange to have a Custom Exempt facility process the animal for the new owner. If you have an animal processed in this manner, you must provide the facility with a Bill Of Sale or other change to ownership paperwork when the animal is delivered to the processor. This type of plant must be licensed by the Colorado Department of Agriculture and must operate in a sanitary manner. Custom Exempt processors are inspected by the Colorado Department of Agriculture on a regular basis. For more information regarding custom exempt plants, contact the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Meat Inspection Program at (303) 869-9098.

Colorado Department of Agriculture Poultry Exemption: Producers (farmers) who raise and self-process less than 20,000 of their own poultry (chickens, turkeys, ducks, etc.) can now sell their processed poultry to wholesale, retail, grocery stores, restaurants or other food handling establishments, after obtaining a Colorado Department of Agriculture Custom Exempt Meat Processor license. Poultry processed under this exemption must be raised and processed by the licensed producer/processor. The producer /processor can only process poultry that they have raised, they CANNOT process another producer's poultry. Poultry processed under this exemption cannot be sold outside of the state of Colorado. Poultry processed under this exemption may be sold whole, or cut into parts. Poultry processed under this exemption must be processed in a clean and sanitary manner using clean and sanitary practices. Producers who raise and process their poultry under this exemption must also comply with certain recordkeeping and labeling rules. For more information regarding poultry processing please contact the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Meat Program at (303) 869-9098.

What is Organic Certification?

Organic producers use cultural, biological and mechanical practices that support the cycling of on-farm resources, promote ecological balance and conserve biodiversity. Organic farmers maintain or enhance soil and water quality, while also conserving wetlands, woodlands and wildlife. Synthetic fertilizers, sewage sludge, irradiation and genetic engineering may not be used by organic operations. Food and other agricultural products that have been produced following the USDA organic regulations carry the Organic label and may also display the USDA organic seal.

What is the National Organic Program?

The National Organic Program oversees the United States Department of Agriculture's standard to which all products intended to be sold in the United States with the Organic label must be produced.

Who has to be Certified?

Most farms and businesses that grow, handle, or process organic products must be certified except for those that are exempt or excluded from certification under the National Organic Program Rules (205.101).

What does the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Organic Program Certify?

The Colorado Department of Agriculture (CDA) is a USDA-accredited certification agency that verifies that the requirements of organic production and handling practices meet the National Organic Program's rules and standards for crops, wild crops, handling, and livestock operations. We certify a variety of agricultural products from alfalfa and apples to zucchinis and zinnias. For CDA certified organic operations look for the statement: Certified Organic by the Colorado Department of Agriculture.

8 Great Reasons to Buy Local!

1. Enjoy Seasonal Diversity

Experience seasonal and regional favorites such as Palisade Peaches, Rocky Ford Melons, Olathe Sweet Corn and Pueblo Chiles!

2. From the Field to Your Fridge

Produce is harvested and delivered immediately. Spending less time in transport means fresh products that retain more of their nutritional value.

3. Savor the Flavor

Since local products don't need to travel far, produce is allowed to ripen on the trees and in the fields ensuring the best flavor.

4. Support the Local Economy

Buying local maintains jobs, sustains family farms and ranches, and contributes to the state economy.

5. Learn About Your Food

Local farmers and ranchers are right here in your backyard! They are readily available to answer questions about their fresh products.

6. Preserve Our Heritage

The beauty of farms and ranches enriches the Colorado landscape and supports the state's western heritage.

7. Invest in the Future

Buying local preserves the strength and character of communities for generations to come.

8. Preserve Open Space and Wildlife Habitat

Buying local is better for the environment because it helps keep farms and ranches profitable, thereby maintaining open space and wildlife habitat.

Tips for Picking Colorado Produce

Know what to look for when selecting fresh Colorado produce!

Apples. Choose apples that are firm to the touch, without bruises, with good color and a pleasant smell. Avoid fruit with bruises or broken skin. Apples are sodium free, fat free and a good source of fiber.

Cantaloupe. Ripe cantaloupe will have a distinctive aroma and the blossom end should yield to gentle pressure. Cantaloupes that were kept on the vine until fully ripe will have a clean depression where the stem was attached. Avoid cantaloupes that are shriveled, bruised or that have punctured or cracked rinds. Cantaloupe are very low in sodium, fat free and are high in Vitamins A and C.

Carrots. Carrots should be vibrant orange and well shaped with firm, smooth exteriors. Avoid soft or wilted carrots or those with growth cracks or splits. Carrots are low in sodium, fat free, high in the antioxidant Vitamin A and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C.

Cherries. Look for cherries that are plump with firm, smooth and brightly colored skins. Good quality cherries should have green stems attached. Avoid cherries with blemishes, rotted or mushy skins, or those that are shriveled and dull. Cherries are low in fat, sodium free, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C.

Leaf Lettuce. Leaf lettuce should be crisp and well colored. Avoid leaf lettuce with yellow leaves or with leaves showing cracked ribs. Lettuce is fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin A.

Onions. Good quality dry onions should be firm and hard with short, tight necks and dry papery skins. Slightly loose outer skin is common and should not affect quality. Avoid onions that show mold, decay, or blemishes. Onions are fat free, very low in sodium, a good source of fiber and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C.

Peaches. Peaches should be picked when the background color (not the red side toward the sun, but the backside of the fruit) has changed from green to white or yellow. If the peaches are to be eaten quickly, the best possible peach is one that has already started to soften on the tree, however, if they are to be stored then they should still be firm, but with the light background color.

Potatoes. All potato varieties should be uniformly sized, fairly clean, firm and smooth. Avoid potatoes with wrinkled skins, soft dark spots, cut surfaces or green appearance. Potatoes are fat free, sodium free, a good source of fiber, high in potassium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C.

Sweet Corn. Sweet corn should have fresh green husks with silk ends that are free of decay or worms. Ears should be evenly covered with plump, consistently sized kernels. Avoid corn with discolored or dry-looking husks, stem ends, or kernels. Sweet corn is sodium free, low fat, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C.

Tomatoes. Tomatoes should have bright, shiny skins and firm flesh. Avoid tomatoes that are soft or mushy, lacking in color, or have blemishes or growth cracks. Tomatoes are low fat, very low in sodium, a good source of potassium and high in antioxidants Vitamins A and C.

Watermelon. Choose a symmetrical watermelon that is heavy for its size. Watermelons are fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidants Vitamins A and C.

Safe Food Handling: Four Simple Steps

CLEAN

Wash hands and surfaces often

- Wash your hands with warm water and soap for at least 20 seconds before and after handling food and after using the bathroom, changing diapers, and handling pets.
- Wash your cutting boards, dishes, utensils, and counter tops with hot soapy water after preparing each food item.
- Consider using paper towels to clean up kitchen surfaces. If you use cloth towels, launder them often in the hot cycle.
- Rinse fresh fruits and vegetables under running tap water, including those with skins and rinds that are not eaten. Scrub firm produce with a clean produce brush.
- With canned goods, remember to clean lids before opening.

SEPARATE

Separate raw meats from other foods

- Separate raw meat, poultry, seafood, and eggs from other foods in your grocery shopping cart, grocery bags, and refrigerator.
- Use one cutting board for fresh produce and a separate one for raw meat, poultry, and seafood.
- Never place cooked food on a plate that previously held raw meat, poultry, seafood, or eggs unless the plate has been washed in hot, soapy water.
- Don't reuse marinades used on raw foods unless you bring them to a boil first.

COOK

Cook to the right temperature

- Color and texture are unreliable indicators of safety. Using a food thermometer is the only way to ensure the safety of meat, poultry, seafood, and egg products for all cooking methods. These foods must be cooked to a safe minimum internal temperature to destroy any harmful bacteria.
- Cook eggs until the yolk and white are firm. Only use recipes in which eggs are cooked or heated thoroughly.
- When cooking in a microwave oven, cover food, stir, and rotate for even cooking. If there is no turntable, rotate the dish by hand once or twice during cooking. Always allow standing time, which completes the cooking, before checking the internal temperature with a food thermometer.
- Bring sauces, soups and gravy to a boil when reheating.

CHILL

Refrigerate foods promptly

- Use an appliance thermometer to be sure the temperature is consistently 40° F or below and the freezer temperature is 0° F or below.
- Refrigerate or freeze meat, poultry, eggs, seafood, and other perishables within 2 hours of cooking or purchasing. Refrigerate within 1 hour if the temperature outside is above 90° F.
- Never thaw food at room temperature, such as on the counter top. There are three safe ways to defrost food: in the refrigerator, in cold water, and in the microwave. Food thawed in cold water or in the microwave should be cooked immediately.
- Always marinate food in the refrigerator.
- Divide large amounts of leftovers into shallow containers for quicker cooling in the refrigerator.

Centennial farm/ranch, CSA farm, on-farm/ranch sales, sell to schools. Austin Farms is a unique farm designed with diverse agriculture in mind. Glenn is a pioneer in the world of soil health, natural fertilizers and pure foods. He has been farming since he was a little boy in Tennessee in the 1940s. At 5400' elevation we manage to grow many varieties of apples and peaches, plums, prunes, table grapes, berries, nectarines, pears, sweet cherries, and melons. In addition, we grow vegetables of all kinds, tomatoes, corn, potatoes, onions, dill, cucumbers, summer squash, winter squash, garlic, eggplant, many varieties of peppers, cabbage, leeks, peas, green beans, etc. In addition, our honey is available in many stores and restaurants across Colorado. Our local customers love our fresh eggs, poultry meat and grass-fed beef by the half or quarter. We make our produce available in much of the state of Colorado, delivering to the Front Range once a week during harvest season. We also have a growing and thriving CSA program that supplies fresh fruit and vegetables to our customers. Our goal is to pick one day and have it on your door step the next.

SHOP SMART: 6 Tips for Making the Most of Your Farmers' Market Experience

Make a meal plan before you go. There are often meat, cheese, bread, vegetable, fruit, and dessert options available, so you may be able to get everything you need for an amazing dinner or for a variety of meals throughout the week!

Bring clean, reusable grocery bags to load up your purchases. (Remember to wash them regularly, too!) Also, bring insulated bags or have a cooler with frozen ice packs in your car or bike cart for meats, eggs, cheeses, and any other items that should be kept cold before you return home. Always keep raw meat and poultry separated from fresh produce.

Take full advantage of the farmers' market experience. You may want to walk through the whole market before making any purchases in order to determine what is available. Take time to appreciate the local musicians, look around to see if you recognize neighbors or co-workers, and to try or buy something new!

Talk to vendors about their products--they are the experts! Feel free to ask a grower about any unfamiliar produce or for advice on the best ways to prepare or store different products. Even a seasoned shopper can confuse parsley with cilantro, or beets with radishes.

Embrace ugly fruit and veggies! Who are we to demand perfection from plants? Do your part to reduce food waste and give that crooked carrot or misshaped tomato a place at your table!

Plan ahead and buy extra produce to preserve for next winter. There's nothing as satisfying as making, sharing and/or enjoying home-preserved Colorado produce—like peach jam, pickled peppers, or tomato salsa!

Designed for Smart Market Shopping!

Use your smart phone or computer to access CSU Extension's new Preserve Smart. Use the app or website to find high elevation canning, freezing, and drying directions and recipes for a wide variety of fruits and vegetables.

Greenhouse, on-farm/ranch sales: handcrafted gifts. I spend a lot of time researching the natural ingredients I use in my products, harvesting my own herbs whenever possible from the natural surroundings in our area. The herbs in my bath and body products have natural healing properties which require low temperatures during processing, so as not to destroy the essence of the plants.

My products are made in small batches with the finest essential oils, organic CBD from industrial full spectrum hemp oil and the hemp is grown at our ranch for the finest quality. We make CBD muscle rub, CBD arnica injury salve, CBD honey and honey sticks. CBD tinctures in 250mg, 500mg and 1,000mg. Also CBD for pets. They are created with extreme care and I feel that surpass all commercially developed similar products.
